NOTE: Sandra M. Moore, M.A., founder and principal of Next Step CC, LLC, and the facilitator for "How to Write a Winning College Essay" workshops, does not write the participants' pieces for students; she gives them the skills and support that can enable them to create well-crafted and compelling college essays. Students must do the required work, including writing/editing their essays at home in between workshop sessions. She does not promise or guarantee that what they produce will result in admission to particular colleges and universities.
